Cleaner air and better living for Low Carbon Economy Regions Ideas for 2014-2020

12 June 2013

Apulia Region office - Rue du Trône 62, 1050 Brussels
A Green Week satellite event

CO2 affects the global environment as Particulate Matter (PM) affects the local environment. This truth implies the need for an efficient climate change policy and for effective measures to improve air quality. Choosing this win-win strategy means selecting those solutions that generate co-benefits in the local environment and that, at the same time, deal with the global (and local) effects of GHG emissions. Retrofitting buildings for energy saving is an example of these efficient solutions.

The workshop will start by setting the problem and recalling the responses envisaged by EU strategies and Directives. Then some relevant case studies at regional and sub-regional level will be presented: these result from EU projects funded by INTERREG IVC, IPA CBC Adriatic, LIFE and KIC-EIT Programmes. Finally a round table will help to develop new ideas on these issues, within the framework of the new European Structural and Investment Fund Programming Period 2014-2020.
